

6516209494.txt

To whom it may concern,

To attempt to stop XM radio from brocasting traffic and weather updates from major metropolitan areas is ludicrous. This service in no way falls under the heading of "local" programming. Those travelling to and from those areas have a very real need for this information, and I for one have found it indespensible on serveral occasions. This kind of information is no different from what is available on the Weather Channel's "Travel Forecast." If this service were unvaialable, I feel consumers would be losing a valuable and useful resource. Thank you for your attention in this matter.

Sincerly

Chris DelleFave